The best mental calculators from all over the world are invited to the 4th Mental Calculation World Cup 2010. It takes place in the course of Summer of Science 2010 in Magdeburg.

Date: 5-7 June 2010 (contest: 6-7 June)

Venue: University of Magdeburg, Germany

Schedule and rules: The World cup contest will take place on 6 and 7 June 2010, where each mental calculator will have to solve tasks in different categories (addition, multiplication, extracting roots, calendar from memory and tasks of surprise). There are several prizes for the best participants. The participant with the best score in the surprise tasks will be awarded the title "World cup champion - most versatile calculator". The participant with the best total score will be awarded the title "World cup champion – combination".

The winners in the categories "addition", "multiplication", "extracting roots" and "calendar from memory" will be awarded the title "World cup champion for (category)". The calculator with the best aggregate score for those four categories will be awarded the Memoriad Trophy for the fastest calculator.

Titles and Prizes: There are several prizes for the best participants. All winners will receive certificates. Successful record attempts will be registered as world record.

Organizer: University of Leipzig, Chair of Applied Telematics and E-Business together with the committee Science in Dialogue

Registration: please send only the written registration form (photocopies are welcome) to:
Ralf Laue, P. O. Box 80, 04181 Leipzig, Germany
The deadline for registration is 1 April 2010. Late registrations can be discussed on an individual basis.

The number of participants is limited to 40. If more people register for the event, the organizer will select the participants who qualify. For this purpose, information about previous results at mental calculation events, other mental sports contests and verified achievements with the Memoriad software (http://www.recordholders.org/downloads/worldcup/Memoriad_Setup.exe) should be submitted with the registration.

Board and lodging is free for registered participants. However, all travel costs have to be paid by the participants. Also, accompanying persons have to pay for their hotel and meals.
You can find cheap hotel offers on our web site www.recordholders.org/en/worldcup/

The participants will not have to pay an entry fee and they will not receive a fee for their participation.
